

THE HERALD.

JOHN P. BARRETT, EDITOR

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1883.

WONDER if Simon Bolivar and Jesus are related, and if so, how much when and where.

GENERAL GRANT's mother died on the 11th inst. at her residence in Jersey City, at the age of eighty-five years.

The Chicago Herald pronounces disgusting the "soulful tribute" of Joaquin Miller to his dead and neglected wife, and calls him a fraud.

The Democratic clans are on the battle ground and this and the clash of arms will begin about noon to-morrow, and the contest will not be very lively and close.

OUR Republican friends, held a regular love feast meeting Monday. They nominated their man on the first ballot and then they jollified, speculated, and applauded muchly.

The Cincinnati Dramatic Festival closed with an enthusiastic crowded house and a treasury of receipts, amounting to eighty-five thousand dollars.

The Lexington correspondent of the Cincinnati News Journal in mentioning the various candidates for Governor of this State says: "Mayor Jacob's candidacy is an impertinence—he is merely the thumbing to be jugged by a fakir."

At Virginia City, Nevada, last week Mrs. Theresa Fair was granted a divorce from her husband, James G. Fair, United States Senator, with $4,250,000 alimony in money and bonds, the rest due in San Francisco, and the custody of the three youngest children. No defense was made and the proceedings were private.

BUCKNER is booming, and may Knott be beaten. Simpson county instructed for him last Saturday. This gives Simon Bolivar, the hero of Fort Donelson, 123 votes for first choice and a large second vote. While Knott and Jones are sparing over it, S. B. B. will, in all probability, slip off with the gubernatorial pie.

THE Warren county Republicans held a convention at Bowling Green last Saturday, and instructed their delegates for Col. W. E. Hoxson, for Governor. The Bowling Green Times says Col. Hoxson is undoubtedly the choice of four-fifths of his party, and that he will most likely receive the nomination at the approaching Republican State Convention.

WE do not think enough. Every question of import should be freely and fairly investigated. We should be open to conviction. We should test every question presented to the mind by the crucible of independent thought, and then embrace and dare maintain the conclusions thus reached. By such a course the progress of the human mind would be much more rapid.

The thought that breaks the tyrant's rod, That sets the nations free, That gives the universe one God, The world one unity.

THE Owenton Post boasts of a marvelous discovery of "twin eggs" now at its office. We are surprised at our neighbor never having seen or heard of twin eggs until he got those the other day. We have in our town a breed of twin chickens that lay twin eggs all the time and from each egg comes two chickens, in other words, four well developed chickens from a pair of eggs. Our grocer men sell three pairs of these eggs for a third more than the common hen's eggs; they being larger and richer.

THE trial of Phil Thompson for the murder of Walter Davis is in progress at Harrodsburg. Commonwealth's Attorney Fliley Shuck, of Lebanon; Lt. Gov. James E. Cantrell, of Georgetown; Hon. W. C. Owen, of Scott county; Hon. B. S. Robbins of Orlan county, and Capt. J. R. Morton, of Lexington, represent the Commonwealth. The defendant is represented by Hon. Daniel W. Vorhees, of Indiana; Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn of Versailles; Gen. Daniel W. Lindsay, of Frankfort; Judge R. P. Jacob, of Danville; Hon. T. C. Bell, of Harrodsburg, and the defendant's father, Col. Phil B. Thompson, Sr. The testimony for the defense ended Saturday. Miss Jessie Buckner, the suspected instigator of the tragedy, was the strongest witness the defense introduced. She was never confused or wearied during an examination of four hours. The Courier-Journal vindicates Thompson; some other prominent papers in the State blame him. He will probably be acquitted, not without a struggle, though.

MR. WILLIAM ELY, editor of the Cynthianna Progress, is the boss joker of the Kentucky press. Here is his latest funnygraph: "The Republican possibility of carrying the State of Kentucky at the August election may be reduced to a probability, and we think we are not too sanguine in saying to a certainty, that if the great Republican party—the party of equal rights to all, the party of education, enlightenment and progress—presents a strong ticket composed of undoubted Republicans, as will be in the power of the convention to name, which assembles on the 23d of May, 1883, in Lexington; and then organize in every county in the State and in every precinct club as rallying points to make the most aggressive campaign known in the annals of Republicanism in the State. These being done, we have but little fear of plants the glorious banner of a Republican triumph at the great citadel of Democracy at Frankfort on the evening of the first Monday in August next." That banner will never get there, Ely.

A Remedy for the Cabbage Worm Worth Remembering.

Take half a pound each of hard soap and kerosene oil in three gallons of water and apply with a small broom or sprinkler. An examination on the following day will show many if not all the worms destroyed. The growing cabbage presents such a mass of leaves in which the caterpillars may be concealed that it is hardly possible to reach all the worms at one application. It is of importance, therefore, to repeat the use of any remedy at frequent intervals. Besides, the small cost of the material places it within the reach of everybody.

He Got That.

Going down the great Jackson route from Grenada, a regular home spawn native of the State entered the sleeping car and paid for a birth. He had never been inside of a car of the kind and everything astonished him. When the porter came to make up the beds, I saw that the native was greatly perplexed, but as he made no direct appeal, it wasn't my duty to post him. He was the first one to make preparations for bed. He glanced anxiously around, pulled off one boot, and then took a rest for five minutes. When the other boot came off he had solved the problem. Pushing his boots under the berth, he started for the rear platform, and nothing was heard of him for about ten minutes. Then he put his head into the door and called out:

"All you 'uns in that,' look out, for I'm comin'!"

And come he did. He had disrobed while standing on the platform, made a bundle of coat, vest and pants, and as he shot into bed after a run up the aisle, he grunted out:

"Old Mississippi may be a little slow, but she ells git that' just the same!"

A Noble Example.

At the close of the last century a girl in England went to be a kitchen maid at a farm house. She had the hardest kind of toll. After awhile she married the son of a weaver at Halifax. The newly married couple were industrious and saved enough to build a home. On the morning they were to enter the new home the wife awoke at 4 o'clock, went into the front yard of that house and knelt down and consecrated herself to God, making this vow: "If the Lord shall bless me at this place the poor shall have a share of it." As time rolled on a great fortune rolled in. One son became a member of Parliament, and publicly declared that his success in life had been a result of the mother's prayer by that door yard. All the sons were affluent, 4,000 hands in their factories. The aged mother became frightened at the large fortune, and said that something sad would happen. "No," said one of the sons, "that is impossible. Honor the Lord with thy substance and with the first fruits of thy increase and shall thy barns be filled with plenty?" That is our insurance." One of the sons, during a visit to America, looking into a beautiful evening sky was impressed with the goodness of God and said: "What shall I render to the Lord for all His mercy to me?" Returning to England he opened a public park at great expense and gave it to the city. The sons of that family endowed an orphanage and two almshouses. Consecrate to God your small means, and you shall have larger. Godliness is profitable for all things, having the promise of the life that now is and of that is to come. —Intelligencer

What Men Need Wives For.

It is not to sweep the house, and make the beds, and darn the socks, and cook the meals; chiefly that a man wants a wife. If this is all, when a young man calls to see a lady send him to the pantry to taste the bread and cakes she has made; send him to inspect the needlework and bedmaking, or put a broom into her hands and send him to witness its use. Such things are important, and the wise young man will quickly look after them. But what the true young man most wants of a wife is her true companionship, sympathy and love. The way of life has many dreary places in it, and man needs a companion to go with him. A man is overtaken sometimes by misfortunes; he meets with failure and defeat; and needs one to stand by him and sympathize. He has some stern battles to fight; he will help him fight; who will put her sweet lips to his ear and whisper words of counsel, and her hand to his heart and impart new inspirations. All through life, though stoic and through sunshine, conflict and favorable winds—man needs a woman's love. The heart yearns for it. A sister's and a mother's love will hardly suffice; but she who has just as faithfully performed her share of the work, withers and decays prematurely. Treat your wife as you yourself would like to be treated if you had to live under her circumstances, and you will not go far wrong. Do not entertain the silly notion that because she is of a different gender from your own that she is therefore different in her wants, feelings, qualities and powers. Do not be the victim of any social policy. Stand up bravely for the right, give your wife a chance to live, grow and be somebody and become something.

Fire in a Dry Time

Everybody must talk about something. The poor fellow who was told not to talk for fear that the people would find out that he was a fool, made nothing by the experiment; he was considered a fool because he did not talk on some subject or other. Everybody must have something to say or give up society. Of course the topic of conversation will relate to the subject of knowledge. If a man is interested in science he will talk about science, If he is an enthusiast in art he will talk about art. If he is familiar with literature, and is an intelligent and persistent reader, he will naturally bring forward literary topics in his conversation. So with social and religious questions. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." That of which the mind is full; that with which it is furnished will come out in expressions. The very simple reason why the world is so full of gossip is, that those who indulge in it have nothing else in them. They must interest themselves in something. They know nothing but what they hear from day to day in intercourse with, and observations of, their neighbors. What their neighbors do, what they say, what happens to them in their social and business affairs, what they wear—these become the questions of supreme interest. The personal and social life around them, this is the book under constant perusal, and out of this comes that pestiferous conversation which we call gossip. The world is full of it and in a million houses all over the country, nothing talked of but the personal affairs of the neighborhood. Now what is the cure for gossip? Simply culture. There is a great deal of gossip that has no malignity in it. Good natured people talk about their neighbors because, and only because they have nothing else to talk about. Gossip is always personal confession either of malice or impetuosity, and the young should not only shun it but by the most thorough culture relieve themselves from all temptation to indulge in it. It is a foolish, trifling pastime.
